LAND IS QUIET,

And the Gentlemen Who Deal in It Are Not Overworked.

"No, there is but little doing in real estate." said the communicative and melanchely broker yesterday, "and agents are hardly making a living. The fact is that they went in with too big a rush, and now they are getting down and out as gracefully as possible. Of course they won't tell you anything, for what they are doing had better be kept quiet, I don't mean to say that they are all engaged I don't mean to say that they are all eugaged in crooked transactions, but if a man wants to buy property he had best deal directly with owners. The latest scheme—well, the real latest—is an' old one. The dealers—and there are soveral doing it—buy a house that is really uninhabitable and sell it. Of course no one will eccupy it, and the dealer effers to take it back at big reafits things? There is a house on New and the dealer effects to take it cack at high profit to himself. There is a house on New Hampshire avenue that has been sold twenty times over by an F street broker."

The improvements in real estate during the past week have been general, and a large number of medium-sized houses are being built. There were two big transactions—one on Verngent avenue for $20,000, and another on Vermout avenue for $60,000, and another on Q street for $36,000—but these have not t been made public. The opinion among al estate agents, who will talk, is that East Washington is receiving more attention than any other section.

A recent visit to the Lauier heights prop-erty, comprising parts of Jackson hill and

Mount Pleasant, and lying west of the line of Sixteenth street, between Columbia road and Rock creek, satisfied us that it is one of the most desirable investments in real estate new offered. Messrs. Fitch, Fox & Brown, in whose hands the lots have been placed for sale, are haying roads out through and graded, trees planted, and the limits of the various lots marked out in accordance with their advertised plat. Many of these lots have already been sold, and on one of the most attractive sites a Queen Anne villa residence is about to be erected. All these lots are desirable. They are very accessible, the soil is good, and below them lies the beautiful scenery of Rock creek, which runs along the base of the high ground on which they are located. It will not be long before the projected drives along Rock creek will be laid out and the land on either

Among the sales made last week by H. B. Crittenden, at 1422 New York avenue, was the new residence of T. P. Simpson, 1324 Vermont avenue, to Mr. C. B. Jewell, for $21,000. Also, lot on Fifteenth street, between K and L streets, for George W. Clark to Dr. Van Reypen, of the navy, for $4,315. Also, a lot corner of Sixteenth and T street for $2,700.

THE KNIFE THAT CUTS.

Marital Ties That Held Three Unhappy Couples Severed in Short Order by Justice Cox.

Justice Cox, in the equity court yesterday, run the mill right lively for a short time, and turned out three divorces without any delay. The first was that of Emma J. Davis against Elias Davis, in which Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood appeared as solicitor. The potitioner's maiden name was Emma J. Disney, and she married with Mr. Davis on Sept. 21, 1876, the service being performed by Kev. E. D. Owen, paster of Ryland chapel. Shortly after the marriage she went to live with her husband on a farm below Accotink, Va. run the mill right lively for a short time, and married with Mr. Davis on Sept. 21, 1876, the service being performed by Kev. E. D. Owen, pastor of Ryland chapel. Shortly after the marriage she went to live with her husband on a farm below Accotink, Va., where they remained for two years, and during which time a daughter was born. About March, 1878, with the consent of her husband, she took their infant and paid a visit to her father, with the understanding that her bushand would call for them the next day. He failed to come, and a violent snowstorm set in which rendered it inconvenient for her to return home for several days. She learned, however, that the household things were ad-vertised for sale, and they were sold by the husband as was the farm, she getting back in husband as was the farm, she retting back in time to secure some personal effects. She then went to the house of her father, where she afterward remained. Since that time Mr. Davis has never offered to provide her with a home, asked her to live with him, or rendered any support to herself or child. Under this state of circumstances she sought a dissolution of the marriage, which has been recorded, and in addition she has been given the custody of the child.

The second case was that of Mary Shekells against Marinus Shekells, in which she was granted a legal severance of the auptial knot, permission to resume her maiden name of Mary Riggles and granted the control of their infant daughter. The parties were married by Rev. Mr. Coombs, paster of the Western Presbyterian church, on June 13, 1872, and then went direct to her father's house, where they lived for two years. Dur-ing that time Mr. Riggles set his son-in-law up in business, furnished the stock, &c., but it was asserted that Mr. Shekells failing to give it his attention, the business ran down and stock and fixtures were sold out. After this it is charged that his conduct toward Mr. and Mrs. Riggles was so disrespectful that he was invited to leave the conduct toward Mr. and Mrs. Riggles was so disrespectful that he was invited to leave the house. From there Mr. and Mrs. Shekells went to the residence of his father, in Georgetown, D. C., where they remained for one year, during which time they slept in the dining room—Mrs. Shekells on the sofa and her hunband on a bed made of hard-bottom chairs. She was not permitted to sleep in any other hed or visit any room in the house above this facer. Within these three years Mr. Shekells drank very heavily, coming home drunk nearly every eight, and at times treated her with great cruelly. She endured this until about the early part of June. 1875, when, being in a delicate state, both her hunband and her mother told her that she must leave the house, and could not remain there longer on account of her condition. They finally suggested that she return to her father's house, promising to pay her board and the expenses of her filness. She went back home, where her babe was born, and since that time she has falled to contribute to her support. These were some of the grounds of complaint upon which the divorce was sought, and, being sustained by proof, a decree in the wife's favor was ordered.

Not Afraid of a Mouse.

In place of the regular weekly lectures in chemistry, Prof. Israel, of the High school, has arranged for a series of papers to be prepared by members of the graduating class, and to be read by them before both the second and third wear students in this branch. Last Thursday Miss Morgan had an interesting paper on "Carbonic Acid," and in performing the usual experiment upon a mouse to show the fatal effect of the gas the mouse escaped. Miss Morgan, however, pluckly recaptured the runway, and taking him in her hand proceeded with her work much to the anusement of the male portion of her audience. Miss Lynch also had a most instructive and well-prepared essay on aluminum. The experiments attending this were very fine.

The Armory Fair.
The successful charity fair given at the armory last Tuesday and Wednesday was the result of the efforts of many of the most prominent ladies of Washington society, and prominent ladies of Washington society, and was what might have been expected with such managers. Aside from the usual attractions of a fair the ladies offered on Wednesday evening a musical entertainment not often surpassed. One feature of it was entirely new in Washington—the "Sleighbell Symphony"—in which about all the music producing instruments known to civilized people were used. The instruments were played by ladies and gentlemen well known in society under the direction of Miss Pope, of Boston, who was the leading planist, and first suggested the symphony to the fair managers. Another extremely pleasant feature of the musical catertainment was the managers. Another extremely pleasant feature of the musical entertainment was the violin playing of Mme. A. A. Fesyar, whose performances are compared very favorably with those of Camilla Urso.

ONLY A LITTLE APPROPRIATION. The Agent of a Fire Alarm Company Distressed Because an Item that Concerned Him was Stricken from the Dis-

J. W. Stover, the president of the Gamewell Fire Alarm company, who put up the police alarms in the fifth police precinct, wrote a letter to the commissioners some time ago, to which the commissioners have replied. Mr. Stover asked whether any difficulty need be apprehended of delay in getting the necessary appropriation to pay for the alarms. He said: "I saw Mr. Follett, of Ohio, who I believe has charge of the disof Onlo, who I believe has charge of the dis-trict appropriations; also, Mr. Rockwell, of Massachusetts, a member of the district com-mittee. Both these gentlemen assured me of their favorable opinion of the police tele-graph, and that in their opinion, there would would be no difficulty if your board re-quested an appropriation. If there is any obstacle in the way please kindly inform me. If I can be of any assistance I will come to Washington immediately, but I never sup-posed that any influence other than your own would be required to secure so small an appropriation as $5,000 for so valuable and practical a thing as we have given you in your fifth precinct."

The commissioners have replied that the committee on appropriations threw out the item for police alarms. Mr. Follett, they state, was in favor of the appropriation, but the full committee objected. The commissioners also send Mr. Stover the names of the gentlemen comprising the district committee.

MRS. LANGTRY SUED.

She Appears in Court to Defend the Suit Brought by John A. Stevens.

New York, May 16.—The suit of John A. Stevens, proprietor of the New York theater, of this city, against Mrs. Emile Charlotte Langtry, for alleged breach of contract, was Langtry, for alleged breach of contract, was begun before Judge Haines in the city court this afternoon. Mrs. Langtry, accompanied by Mr. Boucicault, was in court. There was a large crowd present. The plaintiff charged that Mrs. Langtry agreed to play at his theater during the week between Fob. 25 and March 1, 1884, two matinees to be included. When Mrs. Langtry found that one of the matinees would have to be played on Ash Wednesday she objected, and the day was changed to Tuesday of that week. When Tuesday came she refused to act, claiming to Tuesday came she refused to act, claiming to be ill. The plaintiff's testimouy showed that several hundred dollars' worth of tickets had been sold for Tuesday and the money had to be refunded. Mr. Stevens claimed to have be refunded. Mr. Stevens claimed to have been damaged to the extent of $1,500. Dr. Charles McBurney, for Mrs. Langtry, testified that that lady had been working too hard, and he had issisted upon her giving up the Tuesday matinee performance. He said that Mrs. Langtry was a woman of great energy and firmness, and was always anxious to fulfill her engagements. Mrs. Langtry in her testimony gave a de-

to fulfill her engagements.

Mrs. Langtry in her testimony gave a detailed account of her engagements between last October and March. She said she was constantly playing, and upon three or four occasions had to forego performances on account of illness. She said she notified Mr. Stevens's agent that she could not play on the Tuesday referred to, and believed that her notification was timely and satisfactory until her property was attached by Mr. Stovens.
